Elder Abuse Statistics

Population of Older Adults

Older adults age 65 and older comprise 14.9% of the total population in the USA.

Projections anticipate the percentage of the population age 65 and older to continue to grow in the coming decades.

Prevalence of Elder Abuse

At least 10% of adults age 65 and older will experience some form of elder abuse in a given year, with some older adults simultaneously experiencing more than one type of abuse.

The Majority of Older Adults Live in the Community

As over 90% of older adults reside in the community (as opposed to various forms of congregate living situations), most elder abuse is occurring among older adults living in the community.

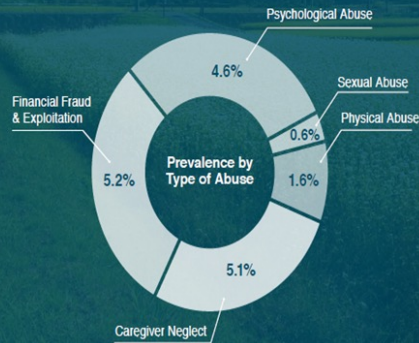

Rate of Underreported by Type of Elder Abuse

| | |

| Caregiver Neglect | 1:57 |
| Financial Exploitation | 1:44 |
| Physical Abuse | 1:20 |
| Psychological Abuse | 1:12 |

Definition and Prevalence of Elder Abuse

Elder abuse is "An intentional act or failure to act by a caregiver or another person in a relationship involving an expectation of trust that causes or creates a risk of harm to an older adult"[1]. It is a term under which five types of abuse are reflected[2].

- Caregiver Neglect
- Financial Fraud & Exploitation
- Psychological Abuse
- Sexual Abuse
- Physical Abuse

The Consequences of Elder Abuse

The trauma of elder abuse may result in health issues such as a deterioration in health, hospitalization and increased mortality, clinical issues such as depression and suicide, social issues such as disrupted relationships, and financial loss, all leading to diminished independence and quality of life.

FINANCIAL ABUSE & EXPLOITATION

“Financial exploitation” is the misuse or withholding of an older adult’s resources by another.

- In a given year, 1 in 18 “cognitively intact” older adults is victim to financial scams, fraud or abuse, according to a new study in the American Journal of Public Health.
- It’s easier to try to exploit a senior citizen with cognitive or other impairments in financial issues, who are alone, than it is to rob a bank. So THEY are the targets.
- Some 5 million older Americans are financially exploited every year by scammers
- “Age-Associated Financial Vulnerability,” or AAFV.*
 - A “pattern of imprudent financial decision-making that begins at a late age and puts older adults at risk for material losses that could decimate their quality of life.” Financial judgment can start to falter before normal cognition does, regardless of whether the person was savvy with money when they were younger. In other words, it can happen even when the person seems normal.

Emerging Trend: AI / CHATGPT

Scammers use AI to enhance their family emergency schemes
AI Voice Cloning

Artificial intelligence is no longer a far-fetched idea out of a sci-fi movie. We're living with it, here and now. A scammer could use AI to clone the voice of your loved one. All he needs is a short audio clip of your family member's voice — which he could get from content posted online — and a voice-cloning program. When the scammer calls you, he'll sound just like your loved one.

So how can you tell if a family member is in trouble or if it's a scammer using a cloned voice?

Don't trust the voice. Call the person who supposedly contacted you and verify the story. Use a phone number you know is theirs. If you can't reach your loved one, try to get in touch with them through another family member or their friends.

Scammers ask you to pay or send money in ways that make it hard to get your money back. If the caller says to wire money, send cryptocurrency, or buy gift cards and give them the card numbers and PINs, those could be signs of a scam.

If you spot a scam, report it to the FTC at ReportFraud.ftc.gov.

How to Protect Yourself Against AI Scams

- Practice skepticism when you come across images and content online. Do your research!
- Be cautious when receiving unexpected phone calls or messages.
- If a call is suspicious, end the call and contact your friend/family member/colleague directly or call someone else who can confirm the situation.
- Be skeptical when asked for money via cryptocurrency, gift cards, etc.
- Don't overshare on social media because it can enable scammers to add believability to their lies.
- If you suspect that you are being scammed, report it to the law enforcement and to the FTC immediately.
